7 ALICIA UHOUSE, et al.

Case No. 3:08-cv-0285-LDG-RAM

8 Plaintiffs,

9 vs.

10 UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE 11 INTERIOR, BUREAU OF RECLAMATION; et al.

12 Defendants.

13 JUDY KROSHUS, et al.

Case No. 3:08-cv-0246-LDG-RAM

14 Plaintiffs,

15 vs.

ORDER GRANTING CLASS CERTIFICATION AND APPOINTING CLASS COUNSEL

16 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA; et al.

17 Defendants.

19 The plaintiffs in Kroshus, et al. v. United States, et al., 3:08-cv-0246-LDG-RAM (#132)
20 and Uhouse, et al. v. Bureau of Reclamation, et al., 3:08-cv-0285-LDG-RAM (#50) have asked
21 this court to certify the actions as class actions and to appoint their attorneys as class counsel
22 pursuant to FRCP 23. The Kroshus plaintiffs allege violations of the Administrative Procedure
23 Act (hereinafter the "APA") against the United States of America, Department of the Interior
24 through its Bureau of Reclamation, Mid-pacific Region, Carson City Office, Dirk Kempthorne, 25 Secretary of the Interior, and Elizabeth Rieke, Director of the Carson City Office of the Bureau of 26 Reclamation (hereinafter "Kroshus Federal Defendants") and assert injunctive and declaratory
27 relief against the Kroshus Federal Defendants, declaratory relief and negligence claims against 28 Truckee-Carson Irrigation District, David P. Overvold, Gary Stone, Truckee River Federal Water

1 Master (hereinafter “Kroshus Irrigation District-related defendants”), violation of constitutional
 2 rights and negligence claims against City of Fernley and Lyon County, and negligence and failure
 3 to disclose claims against developers and realtors, based upon the January 5, 2008 Truckee Canal
 4 embankment failure in Fernley, Nevada. The Uhouse Plaintiffs allege violations of the APA
 5 against the United States Department of the Interior, Bureau of Reclamation and Dirk
 6 Kempthorne, in his official capacity as Secretary of the Interior (hereinafter “Uhouse Federal 7 Defendants”) and assert injunctive and declaratory relief against the Uhouse Federal Defendants
 8 and declaratory relief and negligence claims against the Board of Directors of Truckee-Carson
 9 Irrigation District, Truckee-Carson Irrigation District, and David P. Overvold, in his official 10 capacity as Project Manager of the Truckee-Carson Irrigation District (hereinafter “Uhouse
 11 Irrigation District-related defendants”), on behalf of persons who suffered damages and injuries
 12 as a result of a flood in Fernley, Nevada, on January 5, 2008, caused by the overflowing and 13 breach of the Truckee Canal.

14 In the Kroshus action, Defendants Re/Max Realty, Judy Ashton, C.A.L. Investment
 15 Properties, Cal Eilrich, Dinah Eilrich, LL Realty, the Kroshus Federal Defendants, the Kroshus
 16 Irrigation District-related defendants, Lyon County, City of Fernley, Keystone Realty, and King
 17 Construction, Inc. opposed class certification.

18 In the Uhouse action, the Uhouse Federal Defendants and Uhouse Irrigation District-19 related defendants opposed class certification.

20 This court having reviewed the pleadings and exhibits thereto, considered the arguments
 21 of the parties made at the hearing on September 16, 2009 and, having taken the matter under 22 advisement, makes the following findings of fact and conclusions of law.

23 FINDINGS OF FACT AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

24 This action arises out of the January 5, 2008, Truckee Canal Embankment failure and the 25 resulting flood that occurred in Fernley, Nevada.

26 The Uhouse and Kroshus plaintiffs seek an order certifying a class.

27 Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 23(c)(1)(A) provides that “the court must determine by order whether to 28 certify the action as a class action” “[a]t an early practicable time after a person sues or is sued as

1 a class representative.” The court must determine only whether the Uhouse and Kroshus
 2 plaintiffs’ allegations and proffered evidence satisfy each prerequisite of Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 23.

3 The specific requirements of a class action as set forth in Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(a) 4 are:

5 (a) Prerequisites. One or more members of a class may sue or be sued as 6 representative parties on behalf of all members only if:
 7 (1) the class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable;
 8 (2) there are questions of law or fact common to the class;
 9 (3) the claims or defenses of the representative parties are typical of the 10 claims or defenses of the class; and 11 (4) the representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of 12 the class.

13 The requirement of Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(b) for which plaintiffs argue this action 14 qualifies is:

15 (b) Types of Class Actions. A class action may be maintained if Rule 23(a) is 16 satisfied and if:

17 . . .
 18 (3) the court finds that the questions of law or fact common to class members
 19 predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, and that a 20 class action is superior to other available methods for fairly and efficiently 21 adjudicating the controversy. . . .

22 As indicated, all of the prerequisites in Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 23(a) must be found and only 23 one of prerequisites in Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(b) must be found. The plaintiffs argue that this 24 case meets all the prerequisites of Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(a) and the prerequisite of Fed. R.
 25 Civ. Pro., Rule 23(b)(3). The defendants disagree.

26 Before addressing the prerequisites of class certification, the court will address the 27 Uhouse Plaintiffs allegations of violations of the APA, injunctive relief and declaratory relief
 28 against the Uhouse Federal Defendants and the Kroshus plaintiffs allegations of violations of the 29 APA against the Kroshus Federal Defendants. At the September 16, 2009 hearing, the Kroshus
 30 and Uhouse Plaintiffs addressed the necessity of a class action to assert their respective claims
 31 against the Federal Defendants. At the hearing Kroshus Plaintiffs conceded a class could not be 32 certified against the Federal Defendants. (Transcript of September 16, 2009, Hearing, Kroshus 33 DOC 405, Uhouse DOC 178 at 88:4-88:13). Similarly, Uhouse Plaintiffs stated that the named 34 plaintiffs were sufficient to assert the APA claims against the Federal Defendants. (Id. at 96:14-35 14:15).

1 96:19). Accordingly, the court denies Plaintiffs' motion for class certification against the Federal
 2 Defendants.

3 The court now turns its attention to whether Plaintiffs have met their "burden of 4 demonstrating that the requirements of Rules 23(a) and (b) are met" as to the remaining
 5 Defendants. United Steel v. ConocoPhillips Company, supra at *4 citing Zinser v. Accufix
 6 Research Inst., Inc., 253 F.3d 1180, 1186 (9th Cir. 2001).

7 Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(a)(1) — Numerosity

8 In order to meet the first element of Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 23(a), the purported class must be 9 so numerous that joinder is impractical. "[I]mpracticability does not mean impossibility, but 10 only the difficulty or inconvenience of joining all members of the class." Harris v. Palm Springs
 11 Alpine Est., Inc., 329 F.2d 909, 913-14 (9th Cir. 1964), citing Advert. Specialty Nat. Assn. v.
 12 FTC, 238 F.2d 108, 119 (1st Cir. 1956); see also Robidoux v. Celani, 987 F.2d 931, 935 (2d Cir.
 13 1993).

14 In moving papers and at the September 16, 2009, hearing, Defendants Re/Max Realty,
 15 Judy Ashton, C.A.L. Investment Properties, Cal Eilrich, Dinah Eilrich, LL Realty, Keystone 16 Realty, and King Construction, Inc. asserted the numerosity prong could not be met against them.
 17 For instance, LL Realty stated that it was involved in the sale of six to eight houses. (Transcript 18 of September 16, 2009, Hearing, Kroshus DOC 405, Uhouse DOC 178 at 78:8-78:10).
 19 Similarly, Re/Max Realty and Judy Ashton stated they were only involved in one transaction.
 20 (Id. at 80:14-80:18). In response, the Kroshus Plaintiffs responded that they would stipulate that,
 21 because the numerosity prong might not be met, a class action against Defendants Re/Max
 22 Realty, Judy Ashton, C.A.L. Investment Properties, Cal Eilrich, Dinah Eilrich, LL Realty, 23 Keystone Realty, and King Construction, Inc. could not be certified. (Id. at 93:22-94:3).
 24 Accordingly, the court denies the Kroshus Plaintiffs' motion for class certification against 25 Defendants Re/Max Realty, Judy Ashton, C.A.L. Investment Properties, Cal Eilrich, Dinah
 26 Eilrich, LL Realty, Keystone Realty, and King Construction, Inc.

27 The court's analysis then turns to whether class certification for Plaintiff claims against 28 the Irrigation District-related defendants, Lyon County, and the City of Fernley is appropriate.

1 Generally, courts will find the numerosity prong has been met when there are at least 40
 2 class members. Monaco v. Stone, 87 F.R.D. 50 (E.D.N.Y. 1999). Classes with fewer known
 3 class members as exist here have been certified. See Horn v. Associated Wholesale Grocers, Inc.,
 4 555 F.2d 270, 275 (10th Cir. 1977) (41-46 class members); Cross v. National Trust Life Ins. Co.,
 5 553 F.2d 1026 (6th Cir. 1977) (7 class members); Afro American Patrolmen's League v. Duck,
 6 503 F.2d 294, 298 (6th Cir. 1974) (35 class members); Jack v. American Linen Supply Co., 498
 7 F.2d 122, 124 (5th Cir. 1974) (51 class members); Arkansas Education Ass'n v. Board of 8 Education, 446 F.2d 763, 765 (8th Cir. 1971) (20 class members); and Cypress v. Newport News
 9 Hospital Ass'n, 375 F.2d 648, 653 (4th Cir. 1967) (18 class members). Generally, numbers in 10 excess of 100, sustain the numerosity requirement under FRCP 23(a)(1). Newberg, Class
 11 Actions § 3.05 at 3-25; see also 3B Moore's Federal Practice P 23.05[1] at 23-143-45 (2d ed.
 12 1995).

13 The City of Fernley, in what it named "Map of Estimated Effectuated [sic] Area Updated:
 14 1-11-2008," found over five hundred homes were affected by the January 5, 2008, flood. (Map
 15 of Estimated Effectuated Area Updated: 1-11-2008, attached hereto as Exhibit "1."). The court
 16 finds it is not practicable to have over 500 separate cases or even joinder of that many in one
 17 case. It is doubtful that all, or even a significant number of, the proposed class members in these 18 neighborhoods, would have the financial resources to institute suits and hire the engineers and 19 other scientific experts who would be needed to prove liability. And of course the court could be 20 inundated if a large number of the proposed class members were to sue individually. The class 21 action would further judicial economy since a multiplicity of actions would be avoided.

22 Joinder of all members in one suit or filing of individual suits is impracticable in this 23 case. Accordingly, Plaintiffs have demonstrated the numerosity prerequisite against the 24 Irrigation District-related defendants, Lyon County, and City of Fernley is met.

25 Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(a)(2) — Commonality

26 Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 23(a)(2) requires "questions of law or fact common to the class."

27 All questions of law and fact need not be common. Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d
 28 1011, 1019 (9th Cir. 1998). Rather, "[t]he existence of shared legal issues with divergent factual

1 predicates is sufficient, as is a common core of salient facts coupled with disparate legal
 2 remedies within the class." Id.; see also Parra v. Bashas', Inc., 536 F.3d 975 (9th Cir. 2008);
 3 Staton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d 938, 953 (9th Cir. 2003); and, Bafus v. Aspen Realty, Inc.,
 4 236 F.R.D. 652, 656 (D. Idaho 2006).

5 The Ninth Circuit construes the commonality prerequisite permissibly. Hanlon, supra,
 6 150 F.3d at 1019. In Staton, supra, 329 F.3d at 953, the court said:

7 All questions of fact and law need not be common to satisfy the rule. The 8 existence of shared legal issues with divergent factual predicates is sufficient, as 9 is a common core of salient facts coupled with disparate legal remedies within the 10 class.

11 In this case, the determination of whether the actions or inactions of the Irrigation
 12 District-related defendants were contrary to law and caused and/or exacerbated Plaintiffs'
 13 injuries is the key issue of liability and that satisfies the issues of commonality. Similarly, the 14 determination of whether the actions or inactions of Lyon County and the City of Fernley were 15 contrary to law and caused and/or exacerbated Plaintiffs' injuries is the key issue of liability and 16 that satisfies the issues of commonality. The action against the Irrigation District-related 17 defendants, the action against Lyon County, and the action against the City of Fernley all arise
 18 out of the January 5, 2008, Truckee Canal Embankment failure and the resulting flood that 19 occurred in Fernley, Nevada. Accordingly, Plaintiffs have demonstrated the commonality 20 prerequisite against the Irrigation District-related defendants, Lyon County, and City of Fernley is 21 met.

Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(a)(3) — Typicality

22 Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(a)(3) requires that the claims of the representative plaintiffs be 23 typical of those of the class. The claims or defenses must be typical of the claims or defenses of 24 the class. The foremost consideration is that there is an absence of an adverse interest between 25 the representative parties and other members of the class. Tidwell v. Schweiker, 677 F.2d 560, 26 566 (7th Cir. 1982), cert. denied, 461 U.S. 905 (1983); Blake v. Arnett, 663 F.2d 906, 913 (9th 27 Cir. 1981). The issue of liability is the focus of the litigation here and is the same for all
 28 members. Each class member's claim arises from the same course of conduct by the Irrigation

1 District-related defendants and each class member has the same legal arguments to prove the 2 Irrigation District-related defendants' responsibility for the harmed caused. Similarly, each class
 3 member's claim arises from the same course of conduct by Lyon County and the City of Fernley
 4 and each class member has the same legal arguments to prove Lyon County and City of Fernley
 5 is/are responsible for the harmed caused. The legal arguments against the Irrigation District-
 6 related defendants, the legal arguments against Lyon County, and the legal arguments against the 7 City of Fernley all arise out of the January 5, 2008, Truckee Canal Embankment failure and the 8 resulting flood that occurred in Fernley, Nevada.

9 “Although some inquiry into the substance of a case may be necessary to ascertain 10 satisfaction of the commonality and typicality requirements of Rule 23(a), it is improper to 11 advance a decision on the merits to the class certification stage.” Staton v. Boeing Co., 327 F.3d 12 938, 954 (9th Cir. 2003), quoting Moore v. Hughes Helicopters, Inc., 708 F.2d 475, 480 (9th Cir.
 13 1983).

14 “Typicality ‘does not mean that the claims of the class representative[s] must be identical
 15 or substantially identical to those of the absent class members.’” Staton, supra., 327 F.3d at 957 16 (citations omitted); see also Parra, supra. 536 F.3d at 979 (finding that if the cause of the 17 damage is the same than that is enough for class certification.) The court finds the typicality 18 requirement is met in this case as to the Irrigation District-related defendants, Lyon County, and 19 City of Fernley.

20 Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(a)(4) — Adequacy

21 The representative plaintiffs must be able to fairly and adequately protect the interests of 22 all class members. To determine whether the representation meets this standard, we ask two 23 questions: (1) Do the representative plaintiffs and their counsel have any conflicts of interest with 24 other class members, and (2) will the representative plaintiffs and their counsel prosecute this 25 action vigorously on behalf of the class? Staton v. Boeing Co. at 957. There has been no 26 evidence of conflicts of interest by either proposed class representatives or counsel. There has 27 been no evidence the representative plaintiffs and their counsel will not prosecute this action
 28 vigorously on behalf of the class. To the contrary, the court finds the representative plaintiffs and

1 their counsel have undertaken to adequately represent all putative class members who were 2 affected by the flood, regardless of the individual types of damages.

3 In Staton v. Boeing at 957, the objectors complained that every job category did not have 4 its own representative. Although the challenge was made on the basis of typicality, the court's
 5 response is instructive. It said, "In Hanlon, we stated that "[u]nder the rule's permissive 6 standards, representative claims are 'typical' if they are reasonably coextensive with those of 7 absent class members; they need not be substantially identical." (citations omitted). The claims of 8 the families and children who experienced the flood are reasonably coextensive with the class
 9 representatives who also experienced the flood.

10 This court finds, based on their experience and credentials, that the counsel of the 11 proposed class representatives have the character, ability and resources to adequately represent 12 the putative class. The court also finds the adequacy requirement is met in this case against the 13 Irrigation District-related defendants, Lyon County, and City of Fernley.

14 Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(b)(3) – Predominance and Superiority

15 Plaintiffs are petitioning for class certification under Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(b)(3) in 16 which the court must find that the questions of law and fact common to the members of the class 17 predominate over any questions only affecting individual members and that a class action is 18 superior to other methods of adjudication. The Rule states that the matters pertinent to these 19 findings include:

20 (A) the class members' interests in individually controlling the prosecution or 21 defense of separate actions;
 22 (B) the extent and nature of any litigation concerning the controversy already 23 begun by or against class members;
 24 (C) the desirability or undesirability of concentrating the litigation of the claims 25 in the particular forum; and 26 (D) the likely difficulties in managing a class action.

27 The consideration cited under (A) is whether members of the class are interested in 28 controlling the litigation individually. In this case, there is no evidence that any class members desire to have exclusive control of their case. In any case, individual control by each of the large number of prospective plaintiffs would not be practicable or manageable.

29 Under (B) the court is to consider the nature and extent of other litigation commenced by

1 class members. There has been other litigation in both state and federal court. The Uhouse
 2 plaintiffs' attorneys have filed four (4) other actions in state court: (1) a case against Truckee
 3 Carson Irrigation District (hereinafter TCID) that has already been certified as a class action, (2)
 4 a putative class action against the City of Fernley and Lyon County, (3) a putative class action
 5 against persons and companies involved in the construction and development of the Rolling
 6 Meadows subdivision in Fernley that was affected by the flood, and (4) a putative class action
 7 against persons and companies involved in the construction and development of the Wrangler
 8 Road "knuckle." The Uhouse Plaintiffs' attorneys have also filed two actions in United States
 9 District Court against the United States Bureau of Reclamation under the Federal Tort Claims 10 Act - Moore, et al. v. United States of America, 3:09-cv-00167-LDG-RAM and Adgett, et al. v.
 11 United States of America, 3:09-cv-00649-LDG-RAM. The case of Moore, et al. v. United States
 12 of America, 3:09-cv-00167-LDG-RAM is filed as prospective class action. This order does not 13 address class certification against the federal defendants for claims made under the Federal Tort 14 Claims Act. The issue of class certification in Moore, if raised, will be addressed in a separate 15 order at the appropriate time. Similarly, the Kroshus plaintiffs' attorneys have filed three (3)
 16 other actions in the United States District Court: (1) Kroshus, et al. v. United States, et al., 3:09-
 17 cv-00713-LDG-RAM; (2) Adamson, et al. v. United States, 3:08-cv-00621-LDG-RAM and (3)
 18 Adamson, et al. v. United States, 3:09-cv-00715-LDG-RAM.

19 Related to the consideration of other actions is the desirability of concentrating this 20 litigation in this forum. Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(b)(3)(C). The Irrigation District-related 21 defendants, Lyon County, and City of Fernley should not be subject to multiple actions on the 22 same issue. At this point there is no reason why the issue of Irrigation District-related 23 defendants', Lyon County's, and City of Fernley's liability should not be determined in this 24 forum. Since this case involves a discrete event and readily identifiable class members, 25 management of this class action is not a significant problem. Most of the proposed class is still 26 located in the county and the identification of those who are not should not be insurmountable so 27 that virtually all the class members will receive notice. The discovery can, for the most part, be 28 conducted locally where all counsel are readily available.

1 Under (D) the court must consider the likely difficulties in managing a class action. This 2 court must consider whether a class action is superior to other available methods for a fair and 3 efficient adjudication of this controversy. As briefly discussed above there are currently seven 4 (7) cases filed in the United States District Court District of Nevada concerning the January 5, 5 2008, flood: (1) Kroshus, et al. v. United States, et al., 3:08-cv-0246; (2) Kroshus, et al. vs.
 6 United States, 3:09-cv-00713; (3) Uhouse, et al., v. Bureau of Reclamation, 3:08-cv-0285; (4)
 7 Moore, et al. vs. United States, 3:09-cv-00167; (5) Adgett, et al. vs. United States, 3:09-cv-
 8 00649; (6) Adamson, et al. vs. United States, 3:08-cv-00621; and (7) Adamson, et al. vs. United 9 States, 3:09-cv-00715. Certifying a class action would limit the procedural issues confronting 10 the court. No matter what other method of adjudication is considered, whether it be multiple 11 court actions, joinder in one court action or arbitration or mediation, we are still faced with the 12 large number of potential litigants. Especially considering the alleged financial devastation that 13 some of the putative class members experienced by the flood, a class action is superior to other 14 methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this case.

15 If the common questions “present a significant aspect of the case and they can be resolved 16 for all members of the class in a single adjudication, there is clear justification for handling the 17 dispute on a representative rather than on an individual basis.” Hanlon, supra, 150 F.3d at 1022
 18 (internal quotation omitted). Implicit in the satisfaction of the predominance test is the notion 19 that the adjudication of common issues will help achieve judicial economy. Valentino v. Carter-
 20 Wallace, Inc., supra, 97 F.3d at 1234, citing 1 Herbert B. Newberg & Alba Conte, Newberg on 21 Class Actions, §§ 4.25 at 4-86 (3d ed. 1992).

22 In Parra v. Bashas', Inc., 536 F.3d 975, 979, (2008), the Ninth Circuit Court stated:

23 Bashas', Inc. argued that the difficulty in redressing the harm and calculating the 24 various pay disparities for the different employment positions precludes class
 25 certification. We disagree. We have previously held that classes with far more 26 complex remedies can seek redress in the form of a class action. See e.g. Staton, 27 327 F.3d at 953-57. The claimed difficulties in the calculation of damages, as they 28 affected the various class members, do not preclude class certification.

25 The overriding and predominant issue in this case is the issue of liability. Considering 26 the purposes of class action certification, it is even more important that class action be allowed in 27

1 this case. In Amchem Products, Inc. v. Windsor, 521 U.S. 591, 617 (1997), the United States
 2 Supreme Court stated:

3 While the text of Rule 23(b)(3) does not exclude from certification cases in which 4 individual damages run high, the Advisory Committee had dominantly in mind 5 vindication of “the rights of groups of people who individually would be without 6 effective strength to bring their opponents into court at all.” As concisely recalled
 7 in a recent Seventh Circuit opinion:

8 “The policy at the core of the class action mechanism is to overcome the problem
 9 that small recoveries do not provide the incentive for any individual to bring a 10 solo action prosecuting his or her rights. A class action solves this problem by 11 aggregating the relatively paltry potential recoveries into something worth 12 someone’s (usually an attorney’s) labor.” (citations omitted)

13 A class action in this case is superior to other methods of adjudication. The comment to 14 the Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23 states:

15 [A] (b)(3) action encompasses those cases in which a class action would achieve 16 economies of time, effort, and expense, and promote uniformity of decisions as 17 to persons similarly situated, without sacrificing procedural fairness or bringing 18 about undesirable results.

19 The court finds a class action in this case would accomplish those results, as well as 20 obtaining relief for those class members who might individually be unable or unwilling to litigate
 21 an action for financial or other reasons. As explained by the court in Northwestern Fruit Co. v.
 22 A. Levy & J. Zentner Co., 116 F.R.D. 330, 389 (E.D. Cal. 1986), “[m]ultiple lawsuits ... would be 23 costly and inefficient, and the exclusion of every class member that cannot afford separate 24 representation would be neither ‘fair’ nor an ‘adjudication’ of their claims.”

25 Accordingly, the court orders a class be certified against the Irrigation District-related 26 defendants, Lyon County, and the City of Fernley.

27 Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(c)(1)(B) – Class Definition

28 As stated previously the City of Fernley produced a map entitled “Map of Estimated 29 Effected [SIC] Area Updated: 1-11-2008.” Said map identified over five hundred homes
 30 affected by the January 5, 2008, flood. The class is geographically defined by the City of Fernley 31 map. (Exhibit 1). Accordingly, the class shall be:

32 Owners and renters, including their families, of residential real property within 33 the area identified by the City of Fernley on January 11, 2008, as being affected
 34 by the collapse of a segment of the Truckee Canal Embankment in the early 35 morning of January 5, 2008.

1 A subclass, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. Pro., Rule 23(c)(5), shall be:

4 B. THE CLAIMS IN THE LAWSUIT

5 5. What does the lawsuit complain about?

6 In the lawsuit, the Plaintiffs say that Defendants' actions or inactions resulted in harm to owners
7 and renters, including their families, of residential real property within the area identified by the 7 City of Fernley on January 11, 2008, who were affected by the collapse of a segment of the Truckee Canal Embankment in the early morning of January 5, 2008.

8 6. How did Defendants answer?

9 Defendants deny that they did anything wrong.

10 7. Has the Court decided who is right?

11 The Court has not decided whether the Plaintiffs or Defendants are correct. By establishing the 12 Class and issuing this Notice, the Court is not suggesting that the Plaintiffs will win or lose this case. The Plaintiffs must prove their claims at a trial which will be scheduled in the future. (See 12 "The Trial" below on page 7.)

13 8. What are the Plaintiffs asking for?

14 The Plaintiffs are asking to be compensated for the losses they and other members of the Class sustained as a result of the failure of the Truckee Canal on January 5, 2008.

15 9. Is there any money available now?

16 No money or benefits are available now because the Court has not yet decided whether 17 Defendants have done anything wrong, and the two sides have not settled the case. There is no
18 guarantee that money or benefits will ever be obtained. If they are, you will be notified about 19 how to ask for a share. It is possible that you may need to provide some proof of losses in order to recover money. The total sum you might recover in this case and in other cases arising out of the January 5, 2008 flood cannot exceed the total damages you suffered as a result of the flood.

20 C. WHO IS IN THE CLASS

21 You need to decide whether you are affected by this lawsuit.

22 10. Am I part of this Class?

23 The Court decided that all owners and renters of residential real property, including family
24 members of owners or renters, situated in the City of Fernley, County of Lyon, Nevada as of 24 January 5, 2008, and who were affected by the collapse of the Truckee Canal embankment in the early morning of January 5, 2008 are part of the class.

25 11. I am still not sure I am included.

26 If you are still not sure whether you are included, you can call or write to the lawyers in this case,
27 listed in question 19.

28

D. YOUR RIGHTS AND OPTIONS

You have to decide whether to stay in the Class or ask to be excluded before trial, and you have to decide this now.

12. What happens if I do nothing at all?

You do not have to do anything now if you want to keep the possibility of getting money or benefits from this lawsuit. By doing nothing, you are staying in the Class. If you stay in and the Plaintiffs obtain money or benefits, either as a result of the trial or a settlement, you will be notified about how to apply for a share (or how to ask to be excluded from any settlement).

Please keep in mind that if you do nothing now, regardless of whether the Plaintiffs win or lose the trial, you will not be able to sue, or continue to sue, Defendants, as part of any other lawsuit, about the same legal claims that are the subject of this lawsuit. This means that if you do nothing, you will be legally bound by all of the Orders the Court issues and judgments the Court makes in this class action.

13. Why would I ask to be excluded?

If you already have your own lawsuit against Defendants and want to continue with it, you may wish to be excluded from the Class. If you exclude yourself from the Class, which also means to remove yourself from the Class, and is sometimes called “opting-out” of the Class, you will not get any money or benefits from this lawsuit even if the Plaintiffs obtain them as a result of the trial or from any settlement (that may or may not be reached) between Defendants and the Plaintiffs. However, you may then be able to sue or continue to sue Defendants. If you exclude yourself, you will not be legally bound by the Court’s judgments in this class action.

If you start your own lawsuit against Defendants after you exclude yourself, you will have to hire and pay your own lawyer for that lawsuit, and you will have to prove your claims. If you do exclude yourself so you can start or continue your own lawsuit against Defendants, you should talk to your own lawyer soon, because your claims may be subject to a statute of limitations.

14. How do I ask the Court to exclude me from the Class?

To ask to be excluded, you must fill out, sign, and return the enclosed postcard, stating that you want to be excluded from Uhouse, et al. v. Bureau of Reclamation, et al., 3:08-cv-0285-LDG-RAM, and Kroshus, et al. v. United States, et al., 3:08-cv-0246-LDG-RAM, United States District Court for the District of Nevada, to Class Counsel Robert C. Maddox, Esq., Robert C. Maddox & Associates, 10587 Double R Blvd., Suite 100, Reno, Nevada 89521 (775-322-3666). You must mail your Exclusion Request postmarked by December 3, 2010.

E. THE ATTORNEYS REPRESENTING YOU

15. Do I have an attorney in this case?

The Court decided that the law firms of Robert C. Maddox & Associates, Dunlap & Laxalt, Leverty & Associates Law, Chtd., Hager & Hearne, and the Law Office of Lee T. Hotchkin of Reno, Nevada are qualified to represent you and all Class Members. Together the law firms are called "Class Counsel." They are experienced in handling class action lawsuits. More information about these law firms, their practices, and their attorneys' experience is available at www.fernleyflood.org.

16. Should I get my own attorney?

2 You do not need to hire your own attorney because Class Counsel is working on your behalf.
 2 But, if you want your own attorney, you will have to pay that attorney. For example, you can ask
 3 him or her to appear in Court for you if you want someone other than Class Counsel to speak for 3 you.

17. How will the attorneys be paid?

5 If Class Counsel get money or benefits on behalf of the Class, they may ask the Court to be 6 awarded fees and expenses. If the Court grants Class Counsel's request, the fees and expenses
 6 may be deducted from any money obtained for the Class or paid separately by Defendants.

F. THE TRIAL

7 The Court will schedule a trial to decide who is right in this case.

18. How and when will the Court decide who is right?

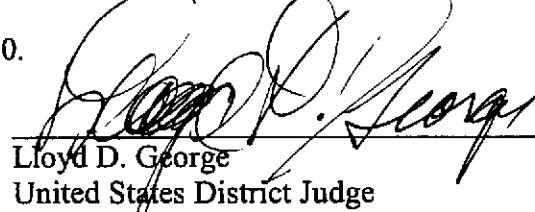

10 As long as the case is not resolved by a settlement or otherwise, Class Counsel will have to prove 11 the Plaintiffs' claims at a trial. The trial has not yet been scheduled but once it is scheduled, it
 12 will take place at the Bruce R. Thompson United States Courthouse, 400 S. Virginia St., Reno, 13 Nevada. During the trial, a Jury will hear all of the evidence to help them reach a decision about whether the Plaintiffs or Defendant are right about the claims in the lawsuit. There is no guarantee that the Plaintiffs will win, or that they will get any money for the Class.
